

Holiday weekend at

NAYLAND

An old Nayland custom was revived at the weekend when the villagers celebrated the Feast of Floralia. The celebrations were an annual event in the village 500 years ago.

Pictures by Laurie Honeyball

Sidestalls were part of the day's fun.

There was a shower but some came prepared.

Part of the ' duile flunking ' competition, an old ale house sport.

